

Planned Giving Information Sheet

Thank you for considering a planned gift to BC Coalition of People with Disabilities (BCCPD). This sheet outlines the most common types of gifts you may choose to leave a lasting legacy through BCCPD.

These gifts are planned in advance and take into account your specific circumstances and needs. Your legal or financial advisor will be able to discuss these options with you in full and suggest the best options for you and your family.

Through planned giving, you can provide a significant future donation without reducing your income today. You can also realize significant tax savings.

Gifts through your will (bequests)

When you are planning your will, you can direct a gift of money or a portion of your estate to the BCCPD.

RRSPs and RRIFs

You can make a gift by designating the BCCPD as the beneficiary of your RRSP or RRIF. The tax credits you generate with the charitable tax receipt will offset taxes payable on the RRSP or RRIF distribution.

A charitable gift annuity

You can make a charitable donation to us through a gift annuity and receive an immediate tax receipt, as well as guaranteed and nearly tax-free retirement income for life.

A gift of life insurance

Substantial gifts can be made by naming the BCCPD as the owner and beneficiary of a new or existing life insurance policy. Charitable tax receipts will be issued for the premiums you pay if the policy is assigned to the BCCPD or the receipt will be issued to your estate if we are the beneficiary, but not the owner of the policy.

A gift of securities

In 2006, the capital gains tax on gifts of publicly listed securities, such as stocks, bonds or mutual funds, was eliminated. This means that the full amount of a donation receipt is available to offset tax on other income.

An endowment fund

You can also establish an endowment fund as your long-term personal legacy—a “gift that keeps on giving.” The principal remains invested and only the income, or a portion of the income, is used to support the work of BCCPD.
